Introduction to Medicare Open Enrollment

Medicare Open Enrollment for 2023 takes place Oct. 15 through Dec. 7, 2022.

Open enrollment allows you to compare Medicare plans and shop for the combination of coverage that provides the best value for you.

You have the opportunity to switch plans, drop plans or add Medicare supplement insurance (Medigap) to cover gaps in your Original Medicare out-of-pocket costs.

What You Can Do During Open Enrollment

- Switch from Original Medicare – Medicare Part A and Part B – to a Medicare Advantage plan
- Switch from Medicare Advantage to Original Medicare – with the option of adding a Medicare Part D prescription drug plan and/or a Medigap policy
- Enroll in a Medicare Part D prescription drug plan if you didn't sign up for one when you were first eligible (a late enrollment penalty may apply)
- Change Medicare Advantage plans
- Change from one Medicare Part D prescription drug plan to another

Medicare Plans

The Medicare Open Enrollment period gives you a chance each year to decide whether you should change your Medicare coverage based on your health care needs, future treatment expectations or if you need to add or reduce coverage.

Taking time before the annual open enrollment period to weigh what each Medicare plan offers can help you prepare for your needs in the coming year.

Plans To Compare and Consider During Medicare Open Enrollment

Medicare Part A

Part of Original Medicare and administered by the federal government, Part A is hospital insurance that covers most of your costs if you are admitted as a hospital inpatient. You may still have to pay a deductible, coinsurance or other out-of-pocket costs.

Medicare Part B

Part of Original Medicare and administered by the federal government, Part B is medical insurance that covers part of your costs for doctor visits, durable medical equipment (DME) and other medical services. You still have a deductible, coinsurance and other out-of-pocket costs.

Medicare Advantage (Part C) plans

Medicare Advantage plans are sold and administered by private insurers. Plans replace Original Medicare but must cover everything under Medicare Part A and Part B. Plans may also cover other costs such as dental, vision and hearing care. Premiums and out-of-pocket costs vary between plans.

Medicare Part D prescription drug plans

Part D plans cover prescription costs if you have Original Medicare. Medicare Advantage plans typically include Part D coverage. Medicare Part D plans are sold and administered by private insurers and the amount of premiums, out-of-pocket costs and specific drugs covered vary between plans.

Medigap (Medicare Supplement) plans

Medigap plans are sold by private insurers to cover gaps in Original Medicare coverage. Medigap covers out-of-pocket costs but does not cover prescription drugs or anything Medicare Part A and Part B does not cover. Costs vary depending on the plan.

Out-of-Pocket Medicare Costs

Medicare plans do not cover all the costs associated with your health care.

It's important to consider your out-of-pocket costs and compare those while shopping for the best value during Medicare Open Enrollment.
